Oh my God. Oh my God. I can't believe it.

MONK

He's still here.

The refrigerator is Monk's nemesis. Monk steps up to it...

MONK (cont'd)

(gravely, to the refrigerator)

Hello, old friend. Remember me? Oh, I knew we'd meet again. It is our destiny.

(touching the refrigerator)

Natalie, put your hand right there.

Natalie... reluctantly... touches the refrigerator.

MONK (cont'd)

Do you feel that?

NATALIE

No.

MONK

He's afraid. Step back. I'm going in.

Monk dramatically opens the refrigerator door. It's cluttered with typical college snacks and drinks. Monk takes a breath, then opens the TOP FREEZER COMPARTMENT.

It's FROZEN SOLID. It hasn't been defrosted in years.

MONK (cont'd)

Whoa. I'm going to need a spatula. A pan.
And a Bible.
